

MMM 🎵🎵🎵

Monday Music Memo 2: 3 April 2023

This is the second Monday Music Memo.

From Ravel to Rachmaninov. You will need 34 minutes and a glass of wine (teetotallers please choose Chinese tea - pu-erh or oolong!)

The response to last Monday's Musical Memo was very encouraging. I would like to point out that I have no musical knowledge at all. I do not sing, play, write or read music.

I simply listen to it and I find that listening to good music has a calming effect on my mind. (See Dopamine).

Good music is not only classical. So be prepared for some surprises later on in the year.

Among the best pianists in the world today you will find several Chinese performers. My choice for today is Yuja Wang. She is spectacular!

Yuja Wang (Chinese: 王羽佳; pinyin: Wáng Yǔjiā; born February 10, 1987, is a Chinese classical pianist. She was born in Beijing, began studying piano there at the age of six, and went on to study at the Central Conservatory of Music in Beijing and the Curtis Institute of Music in Philadelphia.

I have been alerted to the fact that some people have capped data and therefore cannot watch long movies.

Yuja Wang - Rachmaninov Piano Concerto No 2 in C minor Op.18

1.3 m views - 2022 - 34 min

<https://youtu.be/NsqXCO0ADwM>

If you have capped data please use this link:

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=ZZyokBXqEJY>